Goebbels Says Allied Attack In West Fails

LONDON, Dec. 22.—(CP)—The No. 1 Nazi propagandist, Joseph Goebbels, wrote yesterday in his periodical, "Das Reich," that the British-American offensive in the west had failed and now threatens to turn against them.

The German high command claimed that counter-attacking Allied forces, pouring into Belgium, had cut the great Long-Battleground highway, a broad front, nearly 30 miles west of the German frontier, and that a bag of 7,000 German prisoners taken yesterday had swelled the total to more than 20,000.

CLAIM BIG GAPS
Berlin radio accounts said the Germans had torn a 60-mile-wide gap in the centre of the Allied western front and that "through this breach the German panzer assault wedges are streaming toward the Meuse river, 35 miles west of the Long-Battleground highway."

Capt. Ludwig Storz, German command officer, said "Enemy efforts to check the Allied advance in the Ardennes forest by means of German panzer-motivated units has so far not resulted in establishment of a coherent front able to stop us."

The commentator Ernst von Hammer boasted that the German Army was in a position to match the western front offensive with a strong drive into the east.

"The German offensive in the west, launched by well-equipped forces, is held in reserve, but not the slightest influence on the fighting in the east," he stated in one Berlin broadcast.

"The German eastern armies are in position to come up with some surprises here as well."

Princesses Act In Rôle Show

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, Dec. 22.—(CP)—Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret Rose were joined last night by a capacity audience in singing popular songs at the opening performance of the Christmas pantomime, "Old Mother Red Riding Hood," an amateur production staged in a country hall.

The princesses took part in the show, and the audience reaction was that they sang and danced as well as the stars. The production was produced by the princesses with the aid of the local school-master.

The cast included local school children and members of the Royal household staff and both princesses danced in a ballet with the school children.

Girl's Fake Story
Cost Man's Life, Probe Discloses

ST. ALBANS, Vt., Dec. 22.—(AP)—A St. Albans girl lied to a police investigator last night, when she said she had been attacked by a man who died, the official explained, after the girl's brother had struck him.

State investigator Almo Franzoni said Eleanor Hoague, 16, had confessed to him and to her father, that she had been attacked on a wire fence and was afraid to tell her folks, fearing punishment.

Instead, Franzoni added, the girl told her brother, Earl, 22, she had been attacked by Fred Warner, 42.

Franzoni said Earl Hoague struck Warner who fell and suffered a fatal skull fracture. Earl was arrested on an open charge and his case is scheduled to be before the grand jury.

How many men were aboard the vessel was not known here, but it was believed the vessel carried three or four men. She was in charge of Capt. Ross Chalk. All of the crew were from Carmichael, Nfld.

The Molle, carrying supplies, left Tuesday for Carmichael. Wreckage that included her name-plate later was washed up in Grand Lake, along the route to Carmichael.

COBURG, Ont., Dec. 22.—(CP)—Bandman Frederick Poole, Toronto, member of a Canadian Army band at Camp Borden, yesterday was committed to stand trial on a charge of manslaughter arising from the death of Sgt. D. J. Bagshaw, a member of the band.

Evidence at a preliminary hearing was that Johnson shot at Poole in a fight with Poole.

Multitudes of Belgian civilians are fleeing in advance of the Germans while grim Allied troops move down the same roads in the opposite direction to meet the oncoming foe. Many Allied positions have been overrun. The Germans have advanced more than 20 miles at some points and Allied auxiliary women workers and nurses have had to scurry away to escape capture. Spokesmen at Allied high command headquarters refer to the battle situation as serious or grave. Most of the Allied troops and most of the Allied equipment are located on offensive fronts where the terrain is difficult or heavily fortified. The Allied troops are being pushed back to the west of Stavelot.

B.C. Police Probe Double Tragedy

VICTORIA, B.C., Dec. 22.—(CP)—Two small boys have died, a third is in serious condition in Ashcroft, B.C., hospital, and a baby girl is ill in a tragedy which struck the Hewitt family at Spatsmuk, B.C., in the central interior, provincial police reported last night.

A radio message from Kamloops, B.C., reported that the bodies of two boys had been taken to Kamloops for post mortem examination to determine the nature of the illness which claimed the lives of the brothers.

Provincial police were conducting an investigation at the Hewitt home in an effort to determine the cause of the deaths.

LIFE'S LIKE THAT
The country around was flooded so it's no wonder the army was having difficulty "advancing," said WO. Church. "The army had the position well marked with smoke so we had no difficulty in finding it."

PICTURE OF TARGET
At the briefing that morning Capt. Ernie Cleveland of Vancouver, an army liaison officer, was showing the pilots an air picture of the target. Cleveland is a brother of Sgt. Ldr. Howard Cleveland of Vancouver, Canadian Mosquito ace now in Halifax.

Some enemy forces were in a position that was hopeless but by refusing to surrender they were harassing the army, which sought force to help to dialogue them.

WO. William Anderson of Sylva Lake, Ala., was among the pilots taking part in the operation. WO. Stan Church of Prince George, B.C., explained the blue dots on the large detailed map of the western front which showed where the anti-aircraft was "going," he said.

"Chiefly we have been doing rail yard bombing," said the leader of the incoming operation, Pte. Ldr. Gordon Crosby of Vancouver. "But we are always glad to get away from it for a chance to work with the army."

TIME FOR ACTION
Then came time for the operation and the pilots went out into the wind-driven rain.

About an hour later they were back with a story of blasting the Germans from their stronghold and the plane was ringing with the army's commendation for a job well done.

"The country around was flooded so it's no wonder the army was having difficulty 'advancing,'" said WO. Church. "The army had the position well marked with smoke so we had no difficulty in finding it."

Foe Defence Plan Big Nazi Counter-Offensive Most Serious Allied Setback Since North Africa Landings

Following commentary on the German offensive it written by William Stewart, Canadian Press war correspondent, who had returned to Canada after covering operations in Sicily, Italy, France and Belgium.—EDITH

BY WILLIAM STEWART

The German counter-offensive into Belgium and Luxembourg is being carried out with larger forces than won the battle of France in 1940 and fits into the plan of defence which the Germans have been fighting in the west since late summer.

It is also the most serious Allied setback since the American landings in North Africa two years ago achieved a turning point in the war, and in the west the first German counter-measure on an important scale since the enemy tried without success to drive the Allied landing forces back into the sea last June.

Since the end of August the Germans have tried to delay major offensives by the Allies against German territory by clinging to the ports which were needed to build up supplies. The Ruhr, with its area of the river lines, was successfully protected against ground attack.

FOUGHT FOR TIME
Apparently the aim was to hold up the Allies until counter-measures in the bad winter weather could be taken comparatively free from interference by the superior Allied tactical air force.

The Germans relied on surprise to gain for their attack the momentum it needed to achieve important successes. By aiming through the corridor of their 1940 westward offensive the Germans directed their forces where they would be thrown into the offensive at a crucial moment. It is difficult to believe the serious danger could be arranged in front of the German armoured columns.

As it is, the deeper the German penetration comes the more difficult it will be to bring to a dead stop. Unless the Germans are holding back a force of their own to be thrown into the offensive at a crucial moment, it is difficult to believe the serious danger could be arranged in front of the German armoured columns.

PROTECTING RUHR
Though the primary German objective seems to have been to protect the Ruhr, Liege evidently is an objective of the drive and Brussels and Antwerp may also be goals. The capture of Liege would be serious enough but if the Germans reached Brussels and Antwerp, the Allied front would be split, and with British and Canadian armies in a previous position.

Unless the Germans have been in really desperate straits and the counter-offensive was a gambler's last throw, as it has been described, they may hope to cling to whatever ground they regain, adding new months to the long counter-offensive and making additional preparations for the defence of the Ruhr.

At the start of the war it was estimated the cost of smashing the western German defenses would be 1,000,000 casualties. If this is still true the Germans probably would regard it as worth while to carry out such counter-offensives as the present one, even if they were costly in the hope of achieving an eventual stalemate.

Report Brig. Mess Sought Full Draft

MONTREAL, Dec. 22.—(CP)—The Montreal Gazette in a dispatch yesterday from Ottawa quoted Brig. James Mess, who resigned Nov. 25 as deputy adjutant-general of the Canadian Army and director of recruiting, as saying in an interview that his position had been made "entirely untenable" by the government's policy of limited over-sea conscription.

Such a policy, designed to meet every immediate, pressing need of the war effort, was said to be "entirely untenable" by the government's policy of limited over-sea conscription.

Brig. Mess said the only effective way in which the continuing needs overseas could be fully met was immediate and unlimited conscription with complete equality of service. Holding such views, he felt he could not honorably continue to serve as recruiting director in implied support of a partial conscription policy which he did not endorse.

Sees Shorter War If German Drive Can Be Crushed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—(AP)—Germany's powerful counter-offensive last night to recapture arms, production plants on the basis that heavy fighting may continue in Europe for a year or longer.

Against this dark possibility, however, War Secretary Stimson said another—the possibility that the war may be "definitely shortened"—if the German effort can be crushed.

But even if the Stimson-foreseen possibility should prove true, it appeared certain that the present rate of arms production in the United States must be stepped up because of the enormous losses of material in the current heavy fighting.

Do Not Plan Enlargement More Districts

No enlargements of further municipal districts in the province are contemplated by the government at the present time, it was learned on reliable authority.

At present, there are 48 enlarged districts in Alberta, taking the place of 130 former smaller districts. Thirteen new enlarged districts were created at the first of this year, leaving 22 small districts not as yet incorporated into larger units.

"These remaining districts all are out on the fringes of the province, and there is nothing to combine them with," said a spokesman of the municipal affairs department.

"We would welcome any suggestions from these 22 districts regarding their incorporation, but as far as we are concerned, we are through for the present," he went on.

TO BE LEFT ALONE

When the last 13 enlarged districts were created, Hon. C. E. Gerhart, minister of municipal affairs, said the remaining 22 smaller districts would be left alone for some time. They were surrounded with improvement districts burdened with debt, and until a way was found to deal with the improvement district situation, nothing would be done regarding enlargement of the few remaining municipal districts.

There are 212 improvement districts in the province, and a survey was to be made of the situation pertaining to their enlargement, along lines of municipal district enlargement, Mr. Gerhart said.

Outgoing Mail Tops Last Year

Volume of outgoing Christmas letters this year is "very much higher" than in 1940, post office officials said Thursday. Reading on the cancelling machine at the last recording was 317,000, indicating the number of letters to date, as compared with last year's figure of 272,000, for the same period.

The figure recorded on the post office "licker" machine for parcels showed a higher figure than last year. Mailing generally is on the increase over former years.

The early-mailing campaign for Christmas parcels and letters received a reasonable response from Albertans, officials said. Last Monday was the peak day for parcels coming to the city, although it was believed possible this peak would be exceeded yet. Every train into the city is loaded with Christmas mail of every description.

There are not many parcels arriving from overseas. Parcels leaving here for service men all over the world however, have been abundant, although it was not known whether a new record would be set this year.

Sub-post offices report very heavy volumes of incoming mail and this has its effect on the total figure at the main post office.

The moth of the allwork has lost the ability to fly and is completely dependent upon man for survival.

Ceiling Prices Put on Turkeys

Retail ceiling prices varying from 44 cents to 27 cents per pound have been placed on turkeys, young hens and toms, effective as from Tuesday last, according to an announcement made Thursday by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

Purchasing fowl for the Christmas dinner table, Alberta housewives will find new ceiling prices on all their prospective buys.

Special grade young turkeys have been priced at 44 cents a pound for the special grade, Grade A turkeys sell for 41 cents, Grade B for 37 cents. Old turkeys, hens and toms now have a ceiling three cents and four cents below the prices for younger birds.

Prices of chickens, roasters and fryers, now varies from 42 cents, for special milked birds, to 39 cents for Grade B types. Birds not qualified as milked vary in price from 40 cents, special grade, to 32 cents, Grade C.

Prices board officials stated that when geese and ducks are sold with both heads and feet on, the ceiling price is one cent a pound less than ceiling. It is illegal to sell ungraded dressed poultry above ceiling prices for Grade B. Retailers may charge 10 cents a bird for dressing.

KAMLOOPS, B.C., Dec. 22. — (CP) — Nine-year-old Roy Small and his sister, Doriane, seven, drowned Wednesday while skating on Dutch Lake near their home at Clearwater. Bodies of both children were recovered by their father, Reg. Small.

Association Shows Gain in Members

Present membership in the Civil Service Association of Alberta has passed the 2,400 mark, it was revealed in figures released by the association Thursday. The figure includes 360 members now serving in the armed forces.

The membership increased in the last year from approximately 1,650 in 1940. The present record peak is a result of an increase in membership applications which started early in 1941.

Two hundred and seventy-two members of Edmonton branch of the association belong to the civil service credit union, which has $10,000 in accumulated savings on deposit. The group has made 829 loans, worth $88,115, since it was formed. It bought $1,000 of Seventh Victory Loan bonds.

GIRLS

"It was the grandest party I ever gave! Even the cops who came to stop it—STAYED!"

Today's Sport Parade

By Jack Cuddy

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Harlem Tommy Murphy, famous old New York fighter, grieves because no one impersonates him any more. Most notable blow to his pride when impersonators assume their names and try to cash in on their reputations, but not Tommy, who for 17 years battled the best bantams, feathers and lightweights of his era. He grows impatient.

"I guess the world has forgotten me," Tommy remarked sadly last night in his room at Brooklyn's Hotel St. George. "I guess that's why they don't impersonate me any more." He listened to the wintery wind whistling past his window, and remarked, "Wouldn't it be swell if a phony Harlem Tommy would pop up right now—say out in Los Angeles—out in the California sunshine?"

That remark was the tip off on Tommy's affection for the fakes who had used his name in the past. No matter how clever the impostor, he ultimately aroused suspicion among victims or competitors where he was operating. To prove the character's quackery, presence of the real Harlem Tommy usually was required on the scene. This meant a free trip for Murphy, a round of entertainment and, invariably, a sizeable gratuity.

"GREAT IMPERSONATION"
This middle-aged man, with the cauliflower left ear and delectable nose, admitted dolefully that he hadn't heard of his person since 1932, when "The Great Impersonation" was staged at Coney Island.

"That Panama phony must have been quite a fellow," the 59-year-old expatriate remarked. "He did the best job of them all. Using my name, he built up a big saloon that could call business, and even got interested in the brewery. A smart newspaperman, Ed Scott, got suspicious and told me suspicious to a rival brewery."

Scott and the brewery owners began investigating. They located me in New York and invited me to come down, with all expenses paid—and something else in the bargain. I'll say I went. Had a nice long boat trip, and spent 35 days in Panama. They treated me like a king. Never had such a good time in my life. A couple of years later I arrived, my impersonator cleared

Now Battling For Places

EAC Pee Wee Hockey Loop Opens At Arena Next Friday

With the official opening of the Edmonton Athletic Club Pee Wee hockey circuit set for Friday, Dec. 26, those less than the six team, youth hockey players are battling for positions on the week teams, Smithbliss, Leskie, Sundland, Kraft, Fairview and Arrandale.

TORONTO, Dec. 22.—(AP)—Montreal Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs certainly don't seem to be imbued with the Christmas spirit to any extent, they are both hanging around the place, but it makes a very interesting spectacle.

If hockey at Montreal were already at a high level, the suspense, and the excitement, might say it was as much for the fans as for the players. It was a frame-up to create interest in the NHL boys. There isn't much to talk about, but it's a good thing to see the NHL boys in action.

Syd Thomas

The boys seem to be quite serious about the whole thing. It's a good thing to see the NHL boys in action. They are all in the game, and they are all in the game. They are all in the game, and they are all in the game.

"Not exactly," grinned Tommy. "I only missed certain parties. I guess that's why they don't impersonate me any more."

Tommy would like to take a trip to California. He hasn't been there since he tried to wrest the lightweight crown from Willie Richie at San Francisco in 1914, the year before Murphy retired. He is a bad checker now at the Todd shipyard in Brooklyn.

He is comfortably fixed financially, thanks to his savings and to an income from an insurance office, but he doesn't feel that he can afford to spend for a pleasure trip. That's why he is hoping for an impersonator or an "angel."

WAS INSTRUCTOR

TOMMY is a rugged looking, robust fellow who peels off at about 150 pounds. He is remarkably well preserved—evidence of his clean living and his years of service as boxing instructor for various organizations since his retirement from the ring. His last instructing job at Fordham University in the forenoon and at New York U. in the afternoon—evaporated recently because of the war.

Harlem Tommy is respected by all who know him. Intensely religious, he goes to mass every morning when his working hours permit. He never swears, and he never brags of his past prowess of achievements in more than 200 bouts of battles with such prominent as Abe Attell, George Dixon, Terry McGovern, Jack Corbett, Dick Hyland, Lesch Gross, Paddy McFarlane, Owen Moran, Alvin Karpis, and others.

No longer, Harlem Tommy would rather talk of the impersonators who did as well for him; but who, like, now, he has deserted him, now.

With opening night receiving the backing of the Kinsmen Club of Edmonton, the Friday attraction promises to be an unusual one, both for the local skaters and the fans. It will mark the opening of a first pee wee league to operate in the city.

There are still vaccines on the road which would hold regular work-out at the 119 Street, Stadium, Eastwood Community, Oliver Community, and St. James. The boys under 15 years of age who have not yet tried out and wish to go to should turn out to practice in their districts.

There will be a practice at the Eastwood Community rink tonight from 6:30 to 7:15 and a combined workout of the Sundland and Fairview teams is set for 6:00 at the South Side rink on 104 Street and 81 Avenue. These two squads will also practice Sunday from 4 o'clock to 6 at the same place.

Six new sets of uniforms are now on hand and will be distributed shortly to those catching regular places on the club.

Sports Roundup

BRANCH RICKY, who was showing alarm last winter because of the possibility that the Edmonton city boys would become a rival to baseball, is about ready to join up with one of the new grid leagues. Plans are complete yet, but at least his coach, Branch Ricky, is not worried about the boys trying to run things from the bench as long as the Deacon can continue to remain away from Sunday games.

Capt. Billy Conn, writing from Montreal, says that he hasn't been able to buy a good deal of spaghetti there.

Baseball Museum Shibe Park Tower

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 22.—(AP)—Postwar plans for a new baseball museum and hall of fame, in the tower of Shibe Park—crannied with relics of "Mr. Baseball"—Connie Mack. It's one of the must in the soon-to-be-V-Day program of the city.

"We have a lot of stuff around here that the fans would like to see, around with them," Roy said. "Connie's other son and aide, opened the door of the old man's sanctum and pointed to the collection."

There was a cushioned bench of bats that carried the signatures of the great, in baseball through almost 40 years. A rack containing baseballs autographed by every player of every club in every league in the United States.

A tobacco-cans ball used in a Brooklyn-Mutual game Aug. 10, 1902. Another relic of real, a gift from Connie's admirers in the Pennsylvania anthracite region.

The office decorations included also, framed pictures of every Mack team since 1901, and the proclamation to discontinue baseball and a song of merrymaking.

The word "Connie" today means almost any Christmas hymn. In earlier days the word was used to describe the hymn and a song of merrymaking.

Commandos Are Conceded Chance

Overtake Canucks

REGINA, Dec. 22.—(AP)—Regina Commandos, sparked by aerobically Al Greenaway, in goal, are conceded a chance of overtaking Moose Jaw Canucks in the Southern Saskatchewan Junior hockey league race with nine games to go. Main factor in the surge has been the fifty little scorers who stunned the Moose Jaw team with its first defeat in eight starts, last weekend, a 3-0 setback.

Until last weekend Canucks held the spoils, with the power of Clarence Marquess, right wing, leading the league's scoring parade. Both Marquess and Butler came to Moose Jaw from Trail Smoke Eaters, veteran junior champions last spring.

On a basis of three votes for first place, two for second and one for third, the Browns piled up 71 points to beat out Sam Stoddard, who came back from two years in the navy to win his first tournament in which he played. Stoddard had a 56 total.

Fifty-two individuals and teams came in for consolation situation in the series, but the Browns, in bounding their 72-80 win-loss percentage of 1943 into an 88-80 percent winning mark in 44 were clearly a standout. The Browns, after losing the league lead, swept the last four games from New York State out on Detroit by a single count.

Browns Named Comeback Team Of 1944 Season

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—(AP)—St. Louis Browns, already tagged as having furnished the year's biggest sports surprise in winning the American League flag, landed new laurels Thursday as the No. 1 comeback team of 1944.

So did 87 sports editors participating in the country-wide Associated Press poll.

On a basis of three votes for first place, two for second and one for third, the Browns piled up 71 points to beat out Sam Stoddard, who came back from two years in the navy to win his first tournament in which he played. Stoddard had a 56 total.

Optimists Hold Christmas Party

Santa Claus made another call in his busy Edmonton itinerary Thursday evening when he stopped off at the YMCA and distributed gifts to more than 30 Junior Optimists, boys ranging in age from 10 to 14, at the Optimist club's annual Christmas party.

Parties began with a turkey supper, which was followed by a musical program. The Junior Optimists, Games and skills were a prominent feature of the evening's fun and the program was rounded out with a "concert" staged by the youngsters under the direction of master of ceremonies E. F. (Red) Paradi, chairman of Optimists' boys' work and head of the committee in charge of the party. President B. G. Ayles was among those present.

Wives of the members were guests and displayed as much enthusiasm as anybody there. Gifts were removed from a huge Christmas tree and distributed by a genial St. Nick.

School Safety Patrol Members Entertained by Police and AMA

More than 175 boys and girls, all members of the school safety patrol and YMCA youth training classes, together with a number of the teachers and school principals, were guests of the Edmonton Police Association and Alberta Motor Association and Chief Constable Rex Jennings at the police station Thursday night.

All the guests were handed candy and apples before the showing of motion pictures began, the treats being donated by Dr. G. S. Hope, president, AMA and Walter A. Crawford, chairman, school safety patrol. Chief Jennings and Staff Inspector Rex Hadden, of the city police department.

The latter, at chairman of the meeting, introduced police officers of the city and RCMP traffic division.

Chief Jennings commented on the work of the patrol and told the members how much it was appreciated.

Several films were shown, all dealing with traffic problems, school patrols' duties and traffic safety. Constable A. E. Woodwards was in charge of the projection.

J. E. Somerville Parkdale School Principal Observes 26th Anniversary

When the bell rang at Parkdale Public School on Friday afternoon to signify the end of the school day, and children beginning their Christmas holidays, hurriedly left with traditional laughter and glad, in the freedom of school let out, the principal, J. E. Somerville, paused for a moment in his office before he himself left for home. He looked about him while an evident smile of satisfaction played about his features. And with ample justification he could be satisfied: he had just completed his 26th year as principal of the school.

Anniversary
 A century he had guided the destinies of the large educational institution. He had seen his pupils and his former pupils go forward to do battle in two world wars and he had seen young Edmonton grow up to take its useful and rightful place in the economic life of the community.

As he looked about him he must have felt pardonable pride in the achievements of his career. While the students had joyously and nobly used away to indulge in Christmas festivities, they had not so before following a well-behaved trail to his office. On all sides there were presents. Pupils, for two or three days previously, had been dropping in at his office. There were many, many gifts, that testified more eloquently than words of the esteem in which the children held their beloved principal. Some, perhaps meant the princely sacrifice of a movie or a comic book.

Here was a cigar, or handkerchief. And there were not a few packages of gum, because the kids knew that Mr. Somerville still retains that pleasant prerogative of every youth: an occasional chew of gum. BORN AT SEAFORTH

Mr. Somerville was born at Seaforth, Ont., which has claimed other noted teachers—almost 60 years ago, and there received his public and high school education. After a year at the University of Toronto, he came to Edmonton in 1915. Continued on Page Thirteen

I Saw Today Far North Loses Its Most Beloved SC Groups "Con" Farrell Takes New Post

Aerial Santa Claus to West Indies Leaves North

The far north has lost its most beloved Santa Claus. Navy C. M. G. Farrell, late group captain of the RCAF, who won the Distinguished Flying Cross in the First Great War, but is probably best known in and around Edmonton as one of those daring pioneers of the northward sky trails.

Recently retired from the air force, and command of a west coast operational station, Con is now on his way south to take a job with a commercial airlines company at Nassau, British West Indies.

It's hard news for many a trapper, trader and lonely mountaineer in the bleak barren lands of the Mackenzie and along the ice-locked Arctic coast. But the former Canadian Airways pilot, one of Canada's most famous bush pilots, has hung up his parka and mukluks, possibly for good.

THROUGH WITH BLIZZARDS
 It looks as if he is through flying Christmas cheer through swirling 72 below zero cold and howling Arctic blizzards.

Canada's flying Santa Claus of the Arctic is heading south, and that he had never just four days before Christmas.

He's last job in Edmonton was during the summer of 1942 when with the rank of wing commander he was appointed first commanding officer of the Northwest Staging Route of the RCAF.

Farrell won the unofficial title of the "Santa Claus of the Arctic" after 11 years of flying risk traplines, mail, mail, food and freight in and out of there that took him over the vast Mackenzie river basin to the shores of the Arctic ocean.

EAGERLY-AWAITED
 Invariably, several days before Dec. 25 rolled around, Farrell could be seen in the streets of Edmonton.

Members of the Edmonton philharmonic symphony orchestra will be in action for Tuesday night, Dec. 26. All members are asked to attend rehearsal at the public library at 8 p.m. on Dec. 26.

There will be no further Sea Cadet parades until Friday, Jan. 5. The Navy League is sponsoring a dance for the Sea Cadets at the drill hall at HMCS "Nonsuch" on Saturday, Dec. 26, from 9 p.m. until midnight. All Sea Cadets and their friends are invited to attend.

Business was quiet Thursday night as Edmontonians left the late shopping hour late by without rushing down town streets in any number. The large department stores closed at their usual time, and other stores, remaining open until 9 p.m., found business quiet.

Entrances to the fire zone blocked off, a blaze discovered in the Newcastle mine at Drumheller Monday, is now under control. Crawford, Alberta chief inspector said that according to reports, blast had dropped 60 degrees, indicating the fire dying out. J. W. Dutton, assistant chief inspector, is in Drumheller investigating.

Name Official As Administrator
 Russell D. Henderson, Edmonton, has been appointed acting administrator of the estates of the mentally incompetent, it was announced Friday.

Mr. Henderson, who recently was discharged from the RCAF, was with the government insurance branch before enlistment. Before joining the government service, he was a practicing lawyer here.

He will take over duties of C. M. Macleod, who has been transferred to the legislative council's branch of the attorney-general's department.

By the time Christmas rolls around most men's collection of neckties is beginning to appear pretty much the same for every frequent flyer—so no body need hesitate to choose neckties, to-morrow, for Christmas gifts.

Bengaline silks . . . broadened satin . . . unbreakable creases . . . and Rayon and Saxony wools. Plain shades . . . combination stripes . . . Plaids, spots and novelty designs in a riot of color.

Premier Manning, in a brief message, brought Christmas and New Year's greetings to the event. He commended sponsors of the function for their efforts, both in connection with the Christmas party and with political activity maintained throughout the year.

The Rev. F. W. Williams, president of the East Edmonton group, was chairman of the entertainment. He was assisted by John Gault and Mrs. F. W. Williams.

Lions' Club Holds Party for Kiddies
 Sixty children were guests of the Edmonton Lions' club Thursday afternoon, when members treated the youngsters to a real old fashioned Christmas party.

A party supper of sandwiches, ice cream, cake and other treats was served. Students of the Junior School of Dancing presented a half hour program of dancing and Christmas songs, and Sgt. Frank Herman belted the guests with his wizardry of magic tricks.

The party was held in the Masonic Temple from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. and was attended by 45 members of the club.

THE QUESTION
 There's just one thought close to the hearts of all today and that's Christmas. Those people who shop slowly by footling around with statistics tell us that most persons leave their Christmas shopping to the last moment and even later. How about you? Have you completed your Christmas shopping?

THE ANSWERS
G. RED BALLANTYNE, trucker:
 Yes, I have my Christmas shopping all done in good time but I have no particular credit coming my way for this achievement. I get paid on the first of the month and my wife spent all of my money early. That's how I prevented a January lull.

C. MCNEVEN, teacher: Thanks for the tip. I'll rush out and do my shopping right away.

Ransack Car
 Breaking into his car, which was parked on 103 Street, Thursday night, someone ransacked it and stole two Indian blazers, a flashlight, Cpl. A. H. Herrier, R.C. AF, 1017 Jasper Ave., informed police. The theft occurred sometime between 10 and 11 p.m. that day, he said.

PRIVATE BREGER ABROAD
 The last meeting of the federal delegates from various community leagues urged that steps be taken toward seeking closer liaison between the two organizations.

It is hoped that a joint meeting of executives of the two organizations may be held the first week in January. With the league federations' regular meeting scheduled for the second week in the New Year officials hoped that a definite report on the situation might be prepared.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Caged Wife Demands
Lot of Excitement

Girl Who Is Married to Older Man Is Bound to Make Fair Return for Wealth; Will Want Fun
And Pleasure

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a young woman of 19 and have been married for two years to a man of 35. He can't dance or play cards and he doesn't take me out in the evenings. He sits around in his bedroom slippers and smokes his pipe. This man is not the kind I have all the money I want, but he is an Old Grampa and I simply hate him.

I won't get a divorce because I don't know how to do a thing by myself. I can't stand this life a day longer. What shall I do?

ELEANOR G.

Answer, Well, it seems to me, Eleanor, that the time you have spent is to play fair. If you sold your girl for money, deliver the goods without swindling on your bargain. You still think that the wife job is easier than a job behind a counter or a typewriter and you are right about one thing: at least it does pay better wages. You wouldn't be able to live in a fine house and have beautiful clothes and a big car if you were support yourself.

So you are honor bound to make a fair return for all your husband gives you by making him a happy, cheerful home and hiding your distaste for him. Certainly you have little to complain of if all the time you can find with him is that he doesn't dance, play cards or like to go out in the evenings. There are many women who would like to change shoes with you.

OLD MAIDS
DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am 40 years of age. I intend to marry an old maid of 31 years, but sometimes I wonder if we will be happy. We have known each other for many, many years. What do you think?

C. M. M.

ANSWER: Generally speaking, I think it is a mistake for a man to marry a woman eleven years older than he is. But there are always exceptions to every rule, and circumstances are doing a thing that would be only for another man to do.

First of all, this must be one of those cases. You know what particularly charm your elderly friend has for you. Perhaps she has a brilliant mind and is a spellbinder as a conversationalist, one of those women with whom one ever has a full moment. Perhaps you love her for her sheer difference. Perhaps she is a woman who has a fully developed maternal instinct and you are one of the men who likes to be mothered. Perhaps she is a crackpot. Crack, perhaps she is rich.

At any rate, a man of 40 should know his mind and what he wants in a wife and if many, many years ago you have had time to think it over and to know exactly what you are getting in the way of temper and disposition.

And, what, brother, old maids are the greatest husband-motivators in the world. After a woman has waited that long for a husband and gets him, she keeps him in cotton wool and pampers him like a prize prizefighter's pug and waits on him hand and foot.

INVITED INSULT

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a young girl just starting out in my career and I have a good time. The other day I let a young man pick me up on the street and take me out riding and he insulted me. However, he has apologized and has asked me for a date. Should I forgive him and accept him, or should I not trust him?

PEGGY.

ANSWER: You have no right to resent the young man for insulting you because he had every reason to think that you were not a respectable girl. No nice girl gets acquainted with young men in that way, nor does she get into a car with a strange young man of whom she has

Your Baby And Mine

To enjoy to the fullest the approaching days in the home let us overlook some of the season's special dangers.

That bright, probably powdery tree, with its flimsy ornaments and inflammable trimmings should never be put close to any lamp. Heat alone might be enough to ignite it.

Not should the cords of the tree's electric lights be placed in close to the heater. That silvery glittery stuff is a good conductor of electricity and poor insulation of the attic, may be all that is necessary to start a sudden flame and make what should be a day of happiness one of swift and horrible tragedy.

Put on the lights in the early evening and stay near the tree while the children are about. They are inquisitive and excited by the brilliance and unseasonable of the tree and want to touch and handle the ornaments themselves. After they have seen the lights on, detach them and let the ornaments shine with their own soft glimmer. The tree can be even more mysteriously lit without lights. And never be tempted to light the tree with candles, they have proven for too dangerous.

Be sure that the tree is attached to the wall with its own or metal base, but to something as immovable as the workbench. Then when the children run about it, one luckless hit won't knock it and all its bright treasures, toppling.

Minute Make-Ups

Know how to pick your best rouge color? Pinch your arm and see if your skin takes on a clear red hue, choose a harmonizing shade of "cheeks." If you note a bluish hue, choose a healthful blue-red. A reasonable pinch is important. The same color that sets off your summer tan will do little for your winter face!

special temptations of the season play havoc with the children's discipline. That plant of "Minute a Cook," let us have one more piece of cake! "ears on the nation" only when they feel well, and count on a piece of candy, date, nuts, and fruit not only to keep them from getting into mischief, but to keep them from getting into mischief.

And do not try to be too critical. Every parent knows that to be unfair. Parents don't love their children only when they are good; they may disapprove of them, but they love them always.

Parents are given to children because we love them. Not because they are good "regardless" or "because" they are bad. A parent is too dear and precious a one to need any repayment from children. It is enough that we have them.

IRON WILL FLOAT

It is usually said that iron will not float but it will. A ball of iron placed in a pan of liquid mercury will float and even support other weight on top of it. Stones and other heavy objects will float in mercury. The reason is that mercury has a specific gravity of 13.6, while that of iron is 7.84. The reason iron will not float in water is that the specific gravity of water is 1, which means that an equal volume of iron is 7.84 times as heavy as water.

EXERCISE FOR THE PUERPERA

As Dr. Hatalein expresses, in reference to the absence of the complication of thrombophlebitis (clotting and inflammation in a vein) in 100 patients who were allowed up on the third or fourth day after childbirth, "early postpartum activity lessens the hazard of such a complication occurring."

To that I would add that, within reasonable limitations, early resumption of activity after childbirth lessens the hazard of any complication occurring, including maternal fever (septicemia) and displacement.

But one of the reasonable limitations to be taken into consideration in every instance is the patient's general fitness, which depends, of course, on her education, particularly her physical education. If she has not had a fair physical education the chances are she will be unable to do so.

Dumb-Bells

How soon the puerpera may do the monkey walk or the dachshund crawl around the room after she gets up depends on how fit she was for childbirth. It would probably be her and to try it again. Some obstetricians and gynecologists prescribe these special exercises to promote involution and prevent displacement or prolapse following childbirth. The monkey walk means simply walking around the room several times every day in half circles, with the feet touching the floor at each step. The dachshund crawl means crawling around the room several times a day on hands and knees but with arms bent and head almost down to the floor.
